The Rev. R. I. Black, Pastor of M. E. Church at Brownstown Appears in Pulpit in Overalls.

COMMENDS CLUB MOVEMENT

Tells Congregation That Newest Fad Will Help to Restore Simplicity of Living.

The Rev. R. I. Black, pastor of the Methodist church at Brownstown, created somewhat of a sensation Sunday morning when he appeared in his pulpit wearing a suit of overalls. He is the first minister in Jackson county to endorse the denim movement to the extent of wearing overalls in lieu of the conventional black at regular church services. That the members of the congregation approve the action of the minister was shown by the scattered appearance of overalls throughout the congregation.

In way of explanation the Rev. Mr. Black said that the overall movement was a splendid way for the public to register its protest against the high price of woollen clothing. He thought that the organization of denim clubs throughout the country would serve to emphasize the necessity for a return to simplicity of living. The donning of overalls may not result in a material saving, he said, but it will bring the people to a realization that there is a need for the simple mode of living. One week ago Mr. Black devoted considerable time to the overall movement and discussed quite fully the possibilities that might result.

The overall movement has not received the enthusiastic support here that has been given it in other quarters. The original clubs which were formed are still in existence but very few recruits have been added to the wearers of denim. The opposition registered against the movement here is that the unusual demand created by the new clubs has a tendency to force the price of denim upwards resulting in an added hardship for those who are required to wear overalls.

In some cities the overall movement has been replaced with the old clothes movement and the members of these clubs agree to wear their old clothing instead of buying new suits and dresses. The members of some of these clubs have their suits and dresses patched and mended and a patch is regarded as an indication of the earnest desire of the individual to beat down high prices.

KNOX CONSIDERED

Suggested as Compromise Republican Presidential Candidate.

By United Press.

Washington, April 26—The situation developed by the hot fight for the Republican presidential nomination today caused G. O. P. leaders in the inner circles of the party council to begin casting about for a compromise candidate should one be required. They are considering Senator Knox, of Pennsylvania, former attorney general and also formerly secretary of state. His name is being heard with increasing frequency among influential politicians in Washington.

City Executive Points Out Danger of Injury to Individuals as Well as Property Damage.

C. W. Burkart, city mayor, today instructed J. T. Abell, chief of police, to enforce the state law and city ordinance which provides a penalty for the use of air rifles and sling shots within the corporate limits of the city. The order was issued as a result of many complaints by residents that boys are making careless use of air guns. The police department was instructed to arrest all boys found using air rifles or sling shots.

"I recognize that boys must have fun," said Mayor Burkart in commenting on the order to the police department, "but any form of play which endangers individuals or may cause damage to property is not justified. I have received many complaints during the last few days relative to the careless use of air rifles and sling shots. These are prohibited and a fine is provided for offenders."

DR. E. C. WAREING MENTIONED FOR METHODIST BISHOPRIC

Editor of Western Christian Advocate, Well Known Here, May Receive High Honor.

Friends of Dr. Ernest C. Wareing, well known here, editor of the Western Christian Advocate published at Cincinnati, were interested in an article which was printed in the Indianapolis Star Sunday which mentioned him in connection with the bishopric of the Methodist Episcopal church. The general conference of the church will convene next Saturday in Des Moines, Ia., and will be in session four weeks. From six to ten bishops are to be elected at the conference and it is very probable that Dr. Wareing will be chosen. Other prominent Indiana Methodists whose names may be presented in connection with the bishopric are Dr. George R. Grose, president of DePauw University, Dr. Fred B. Fisher, associate secretary of the board of foreign mission, and Dr. R. R. Wade, district superintendent of the Goshen district and active in the Methodist Centenary movement.

Relative to Dr. Wareing the Star says:

"A third man whose name has been associated with the bishopric not only in Indiana, his home state, but in other states, is the Rev. Dr. Ernest C. Wareing, editor of the Western Christian Advocate. He is a member of one of the north Indiana conference and the successful manner in which he has handled the affairs of the church publication has placed him in a prominent place throughout American Methodism. He has been in journalistic work for eight years and for the last four years has been editor of the Western. He came into Indiana prominence through his pastorate of the famous Sunday School church at Brazil but was taken from active ministerial work to direct the church paper. His ability as a lecturer and platform speaker is nationwide and his executive qualities have been repeatedly proved. It is the belief of his friends in his home state, as well as those where his paper circulates, that the conference will select him for one of the vacancies."

Dr. Wareing is a son-in-law of Mrs. J. H. Matlock, North Walnut street. Dr. and Mrs. Wareing came here from Cincinnati Saturday afternoon to spend Sunday with Mrs. Matlock and other relatives.

By United Press.

Turtle Lake, N. D., April 26—Search for the murderer of seven persons who were killed here Saturday night was begun today by authorities. Footprints along the shore of a duck pond and the stock of a shot gun found nearby were the only clues. The murder included a wealthy farmer, his wife, their four daughters and a hired man. Robbery was believed to have been the motive. The seven were slain either with a shotgun or a small hatchet.

ALLIED COUNCIL COMPLETING WORK

Premiers May Close Conference at San Remo Tomorrow—Nitti to Decide Adriatic Dispute.

MANY QUESTIONS SETTLED

Differences Threatened Week Ago Are Adjusted—Another Session in Paris Next Month.

By United Press.

San Remo, April 26—The San Remo conference of the council of premiers which started a week ago with threatened serious dissension, over the question of a unified allied attitude towards Germany, will end probably tomorrow night with apparently complete accord. While not all the questions have been settled, the outstanding differences have been eradicated and the ground prepared for important work when the premiers resume their work in Paris next month.

The council today decided to tender the mandates over Armenia to the United States. In event that nation refuses the council will ask Wilson to determine the boundaries of the new nation.

The council also has decided to take up the matter of trading with Russia again, it was learned semi-officially today and will allow entrance of a Russian mission into allied countries to discuss the matter.

Premier Nitti today was to give his decision on the proposed Adriatic settlement.

OFFER OF MANDATE COMES AS SURPRISE

Congress Believed Unanimous in Opposition to Plan of Allied Council of Premiers.

PRESIDENT REMAINS SILENT

Some Believe He May Reverse Decision to Temporarily Abstain From International Politics.

By United Press.

Washington, April 26—Reports that the allied supreme council has decided to offer the Armenian mandate of the United States and ask President Wilson to fix the boundaries of the newly recognized nation were received with surprise in government circles here today. Officials thought it had been made clear to the allies by hints and otherwise that there was no change of this country taking the mandate over Armenia. Congress is believed to be almost unanimously opposed to the project.

Nevertheless there was some speculation as to whether President Wilson would take this opportunity to reverse his recent decision to abstain from participation in international politics, at least until after the league of nations covenant had been finally accepted or rejected by the United States.

Officials believe the request that the United States accept the Armenian mandate would be politely declined.

GOVERNMENT ROUTINE.

According to reports of officials of the treasury department the cost of running the government this fiscal year will total $7,000,000,000, a daily average of about $18,000,000. The expense would have been considerably greater if the present congress had not made material reductions in the appropriations asked by the different departments. A few years ago a billion dollar congress created something of a sensation. Government chieftains were looked upon as spendthrifts and the classification was probably correct. Reckless expenditure of public funds is a common practice.

One reason for the enormous expenditures in running the government is the intricate and complicated system of "red tape." Authority is so divided that apparently no one has a final voice in governmental affairs. There are many loop holes for waste and extravagance. A more simple form of administration would not only be more efficient but more economical.

James R. Riggs, an Indiana man, who recently resigned as first assistant to the secretary of agriculture, made a public statement at the time he quit the government service that he was unable to accomplish anything really worth while. He objected to the routine and red tape in administering government affairs. He said that his duties consisted very largely of signing form letters. Individual initiative is absent in performing the work of the government. Since that time the secretary of agriculture has intimated that Mr. Riggs was not competent for the position. Eliminating any personal conflict that may have developed, it is clearly apparent that Mr. Riggs was possessed with sufficient knowledge that he could not accomplish the work he desired and stepped out of office. If all the government officials who want to do something more than draw their salaries would resign when they found that they could be of no service our government would be benefited. Mr. Riggs will always be regarded as a man of judgment and it will require more than a general denial to convince the public that he did not know what he was talking about.

Big corporations are striving to put their business on the most simple basis possible. The government of the United States is the world's biggest corporation. We cannot hope for much relief until business methods are changed.

INTER-CHURCH DRIVE.

The Inter-Church World Movement has taken a tremendous hold upon the people of the United States. The co-operation that has been given by both church members and non-church members in the gigantic undertaking is a wholesome indication that the public is turning its attention to religious work. The whole-hearted support that is coming from all quarters is proof that the people recognize as never before the important place held by the church in our complicated life.

The purposes of the Inter-Church World Movement are constructive. Money is not asked for destructive work. The contributions are sought that there may be a great extension of educational and religious endeavors. Parts of the fund to be raised will be used to pension ministers who have devoted their lives in earnest work for the church and whose compensation has been comparatively small. The sacrifices of some ministers are great. They would have been able to receive larger material reward in other walks of life, yet they were willing to devote their efforts to the church and the great principles for which it stands.

This would indeed be a dreary old world if it were not for the uplifting influences of the church. With industrial and commercial conditions in a state of upheaval and turmoil the public turns to the church for relief, inspiration and assistance. The time has come when the church must extend its influence. The world needs it. The individual needs it. Without the church the outlook would be dark and gloomy. This is the hour in human progress and activity when people rely upon the church. There is an expressed yearning for the return of simple living, for a more general appreciation of the brotherhood of man and for a wider application of the Golden Rule. These can and will be brought about by greater fidelity to the church and sincere and earnest devotion to its teachings.

A Washington dispatch says it costs the government 53 cents to collect each hundred dollars of taxes. Of course, there are a few conditions attached thereto which bring the total slightly higher.

USE OF AIR RIFLES IN CITY IS BARRED

have been made were purchased by their parents. I feel that the parents will at once see the danger that may arise from these weapons and I earnestly ask them to aid the city officials in enforcing the law. Of course, we do not desire to cause the arrest of any boy but this practice must be stopped immediately.

"Yesterday a resident called my attention to the fact that song birds had been killed in his yard. There is a state law against the killing of certain birds and an investigation might be serious for those who have been guilty of killing song birds which come under the protection of these laws. The air rifle is dangerous unless it is handled very carefully and almost any boy will become careless in handling a gun after so long a time. The loss of an eye is worth far more than all the air guns and sling shots in Seymour. Beside the danger of injury to individuals there is danger of property damage. A few windows have been broken by air rifles or rocks thrown in sling shots, according to reports reaching my office. The police have been instructed to enforce this order. I am sure the public and especially the parents of boys who own rifles and slings will co-operate in protecting the public from injury and property from damage."

Mayor Burkart stated that his attention had also been called to the practice of boys on roller skates hanging on automobiles and wagons. He said he recognized the danger of this form of play, but the city had no ordinance which could be invoked to stop it. He asks the drivers of automobiles and wagons not to permit boys to hang on their vehicles and pointed out that only with the co-operation of individual drivers could the dangerous practice be stopped.

There STANDS your CHURCH

THERE stands your Church; the greatest power for good in this world. No futile outworn thing is this, your Church; no empty echo of the past, but a living virile force that makes this town a place we're proud to live in.

Would you live in a town without a church?

Would you raise your children in a churchless town?

Your Church—whether the stately cathedral, or the little white building that raises its spire in blessing over the quiet village—your Church is the heart of your community.

Would you have that heart stop beating?

And now—your Church needs you.

The Interchurch World Movement gives you the opportunity to help your Church in the way that will do most good. A great cooperative league of thirty denominations, the Movement has made a scientific survey—physical, mental and spiritual—of the world's needs.

The world's needs are now clearly known—just how much is needed for Home Missions, for increasing ministers' salaries to a living wage, for Church Hospitals, for Religious Education—for every Christian need.

The purpose of the Interchurch World Movement—and of your Church—is to encourage cooperation and discourage duplication; to make every man and every dollar do their utmost in the service of Jesus Christ.

Help your Church and help the world. Help your Church and you help your country. Help your Church and you help your town. Help your Church and you help your family. Help your Church and you help yourself.

The need is tremendous. The need is immediate. Give!

And when you give—give from your heart as well as from your pocket book.

NOT AN EARTHQUAKE, JUST THE WORK OF GROUNDHOGS

Busy Little Animals Undermine Surface Near Waymansville, Frightening Residents.

(Columbus Republican)

Believing that an earthquake was taking place or that some other disaster had befallen their town residents of Waymansville in Jackson township, ran from their homes yesterday and sought places of protection, following a loud report which sounded much like that of an explosion, or figuratively speaking, like "the crack of doom."

The excitement was caused during the afternoon, when the earth near the Fledderjohn residence, suddenly cracked open for a distance of seventy-five feet or more, and in some places caved in while in other places left great yawning openings to a depth of six or eight feet. At first it was thought that an earthquake was the cause, but later on investigation it was learned that groundhogs had undermined the earth, and that the opening extends much farther than just what cracked open. The opening is directly on the Jackson township pike, and for the time being traffic over the road is impassable. County Road Superintendent Frank Harden and assistant, Nathaniel Clark, were called to view the road and steps will be taken immediately the greatest serial ever produced

Remember when the first automobile came to town

TODAY there are more than 7,000,000 of them in the country. Pretty soon nearly everybody in this section will be traveling around in his own automobile.

The first thing a man wants to know nowadays, when he starts out to buy a car, is how much it is going to cost him to keep it running.

It's all very well to take some dealer's word about a tire—if you know who he is and his object in selling it to you.

Our object in selling U. S. Tires is to have you come back for more—and be glad that we sold them to you.

U. S. Tires have a record behind them.

They are built by the people who perfected the first straight side automobile tire, who produced the first pneumatic truck tire.

Two of the greatest contributions to tire and motor economy ever made.

As representatives of the oldest and largest rubber concern in the world, we have a reputation to live up to. We can't afford to substitute "just as good" tires for tires of standard quality.

HOME MADE RECIPE CATARRH AND COLDS

Nonexpensive—Cut This Out.

Thousands are making this beneficial remedy at home and anyone who has catarrh or a cold can do the same.

Ask your druggist for three quarters of an ounce of Mentholized Arcline and pour it into a pint bottle, then fill the bottle with water that has been boiled.

Gargle the throat as directed and snuff or spray the liquid into the nostrils twice daily. It's a simple way to get rid of cold and catarrh and keeps the nasal passage and throat so clean and healthy that germs of flu or any other germs will have a hard time gaining a foothold.

The VALLEY of the GIANTS

By PETER B. KYNE
Author of
"Cappy Ricks"

Copyright by Peter B. Kyne

For the second time in his life the thrill that was akin to pain came to Bryce Cardigan. He laughed. "If I had known you were calling, Miss Summer," he said, "I shouldn't have groveled so."

"Well, you're forgiven—for several reasons, but principally for sending me that delicious blackberry pie. Thank you so much."

"Glad you liked it, Miss Summer. I dare to hope that I may have the privilege of seeing you soon again."

"Of course. One good pie deserves another. Some evening next week, when that dear old daddy of yours can spare his boy, you might be interested to see our burl-redwood-paneled dining room Uncle Seth is so proud of. Would Thursday night be convenient?"

"Perfectly. Thank you a thousand times."

She bade him good-night. As he turned from the telephone, his father looked up. "What are you going to do to-morrow, lad?" he queried.

"I have to do some thinking to-morrow," Bryce answered. "So I'm going up into Cardigan's redwoods to do it."

"The dogwoods and the rhododendrons are blooming now," the old man murmured wistfully. Bryce knew what he was thinking of. "I'll attend to the flowers for Mother," he assured Cardigan and he added fiercely: "And I'll attend to the battle for Father. We may lose, but that man Pennington will know he's been in a fight before we finish."

He broke off abruptly, for he had just remembered that he was to dine at the Pennington house the following Thursday—and he was not the sort of man who smilingly breaks bread with his enemy.

All about Bryce were scenes of activity, of human endeavor, and to him in that moment came the thought: "My father brought all this to pass—and now the task of continuing it is mine! All those men who earn a living in Cardigan's mill and on Cardigan's dock—those sailors who sail the ships that carry Cardigan's lumber into the distant marts of men—are dependent upon me; and my father used to tell me not to fail them. Must my father have wrought all this in vain? And must I stand by and see all this go to satisfy the overwhelming ambition of a stranger?" His big hands clenched. "No!" he growled savagely. "Give me your last five annual statements, Mr. Sinclair, please."

The old servitor brought forth the documents in question. Bryce stuffed them into his pocket and left the office. Three quarters of an hour later he entered the little amphitheater in the Valley of the Giants and paused with an expression of dismay. One of the giants had fallen and lay stretched across the little clearing. In its descent it had demolished the little white stone over his mother's grave and had driven the fragments of the stone deep into the earth.

The fact that the tree was down, however, was secondary to the fact that neither wind nor lightning had brought it low, but rather the impious hand of man; for the great jagged stump showed all too plainly the marks of cross-cut saw and axe; a pile of chips four feet deep littered the ground.

Just Where and How Is the Money to be Spent?

A businesslike Answer to a businesslike Question

THIRTY denominations cooperating in the Interchurch World Movement have budgeted their needs. No business could have done it more scientifically.

They have united to prevent the possibility of duplication or waste. At least a million dollars will be saved by the fact that thirty individual campaigns are joined in one united effort.

Each denomination has arranged its budget under six main heads:

1. FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK AT HOME. A score of items come under this head. Consider only one. Five and a half million people in the United States cannot even read and write the English language. Who is to carry forward this vast work of Americanization if the church does not?

2. FOR HOSPITALS AND HOMES. Every year thousands of men and women seriously ill are turned away from Church hospitals because of lack of room. The children's homes are compelled to turn away more children than they can receive.

3. FOR HIGHER EDUCATION. Of the 45,000 American students in institutions of higher grade, one-half are in institutions founded and supported by the Churches. Many of these institutions have had no great endowment campaigns, but their needs are just as pressing as the needs of larger schools; and you have only to read their list of alumni and alumnae to measure the value of their contribution to America.

4. FOR RELIGIOUS TRAINING. At least 12,000,000 children and young people under 25 years of age are entering American life without any religious training at all. Remembering the faith of Washington and Lincoln, do you think that America will continue to produce Washingtons and Lincolns if faith dies out of the hearts of its youth?

5. FOR THE CHURCH'S WORK ABROAD. Influenza came first from the Orient thirty years ago; nearly all plagues are Oriental plagues. So long as China has only one physician to every 400,000 people the Orient will continue to be a menace. So long as one-third of the babies of India die before their second year our own babies are not safe. A Christian doctor or teacher sent abroad is working for America as truly as though he worked at home.

6. PREACHERS' SALARIES. The preacher is called the "forgotten man," and well he may be. Eight out of ten preachers are paid less than $20 a week!

Each denomination has its own detailed budget, and will administer its own funds. Your pastor has copies of the budget; examine them for yourself. In the week of April 25th-May 2nd you will be given your opportunity to help. You can do it with the full satisfaction of knowing that every dollar of your gift has its post assigned to it in advance.

Every dollar for better America and a better world. When your church calls on you give—and give with your heart as well as your pocket-book.

BOBB-AUFFENBERG.

The German Lutheran church, Dudleytown, was the scene of a pretty wedding at 2 o'clock Sunday afternoon when Miss Emma Bobb, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. August F. Bobb, became the bride of Mr. Erwin W. Auffenberg. The ceremony was read by Rev. Otto Massman, pastor. The church was filled with the many friends of the bride and groom.

Following the wedding, a reception was given at the home of the bride's parents. Refreshments were served to about one hundred and fifty guests.

QUICK RELIEF FROM CONSTIPATION

Get Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

That is the joyful cry of thousands since Dr. Edwards produced Olive Tablets, the substitute for calomel.

Dr. Edwards, a practicing physician for 17 years and calomel's old-time enemy, discovered the formula for Olive Tablets while treating patients for chronic constipation and torpid livers.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets do not contain calomel, but a healing, soothing vegetable laxative.

No griping is the "keynote" of these little sugar-coated, olive-colored tablets. They cause the bowels and liver to act normally. They never force them to unnatural action.

If you have a "dark brown mouth"—bad breath—a dull, tired feeling—sick headache—torpid liver—constipation, you'll find quick, sure and pleasant results from one or two of Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets at bedtime.

Thousands take them every night just to keep right. Try them. 10c and 25c.
